

1. In this exercise, you will read a scenario and answer questions about a project's schedule, budget, and potential risks. Start by reading the scenario: Imagine that you're a project manager helping a restaurant owner launch an updated menu with a few new food items at 15 locations. The owner would like you to oversee the redesign of the menu and distribution to all locations. You're preparing for your project's eventual kickoff meeting. Right now, you're thinking through the three main planning activities: building the schedule, assessing the budget, and considering potential risks. Have you read the scenario?
- 1 point

☐ I have!

2. Write 2-3 sentences addressing what you should consider when forming the tentative project schedule.
- 1 point

What do you think?

Your answer cannot be more than 10000 characters.

3. Write 2-3 sentences about what you should consider when creating a project budget.
- 1 point

What do you think?

Your answer cannot be more than 10000 characters.

4. Write 2-3 sentences on what you should consider when listing potential risks.
- 1 point

What do you think?

Your answer cannot be more than 10000 characters.