Congratulations: Next steps

Great work on this course so far! You are nearing the course's end, and if you've been with us throughout the entire program, you are nearly finished with the Google Project Management Certificate!

In the upcoming lesson, we will take you through one of the most important elements of landing a new role in project management: the interview! You'll learn about key interview tips from leaders and program managers at Google. Then, you'll have the opportunity to apply what you have learned as you create an elevator pitch and even practice interviewing!
